

Best Candy Shops

SF Weekly, Best of San Francisco 2008

28 May 2008

This sleek, spare shop has glossy white walls and glossy wood floors, like a museum gallery. And, as in a gallery, the color comes from the art: brightly colored sweets in big glass jars, arranged like minimalist sculpture, and chic chocolate bars stacked in round-framed shelves. Specialties range from nostalgic old-fashioned candy bars sourced from around the country to witty acrylic cocktail shakers filled with chocolate "olives." The helpful staff will ship gift boxes (from their collection of licorice, caramel, and other themes, or created just for you) anywhere you'd like, too.